Join us for Native Plant Tour and Seed Give-Away March 12

Join us at the St. Augustine Audubon Native Plant Garden for a Spring Tour and native plant seed give-away on March 12.

The seeds come from the plants that we installed at the Garden and several of our Garden Volunteers will be available to take you on a tour.

Got questions about propagating plants from seeds? We have that covered too because Shirley Barber will be on hand to answer your questions about propagation from seeds. A lifelong gardener with focus on community service and a Master Gardener Volunteer for 20 years with St. Johns County and the University of Florida, Shirley has propagated, donated and installed thousands of plants in public gardens in Georgia, Texas, North Carolina, and Florida.

Shirley Barber is a plant propagation specialist who has propagated thousands of plants over the years for school and library gardens, and community outreach programs. With more than 40 years of gardening experience and a yen for community service, Shirley enjoys sharing her knowledge of great successes in the garden.
